Purpose

To provide a clear framework for maintaining safe systems of work, ensuring that all Pulse 8 activities—whether delivered at external training venues or remotely—comply with Irish health and safety legislation and support the wellbeing of staff, students, and stakeholders.

Scope

This policy applies to:

- All Pulse 8 staff, students, faculty, and stakeholders
- All activities conducted at external training venues
- All home-based work conducted by the MD and CQA

Note: Pulse 8 does not operate dedicated training premises. All training takes place in external venues. Health and safety responsibilities apply within the scope of Pulse 8's influence over these venues and with due consideration for remote working conditions.

Policy Statement

Pulse 8 is committed to protecting the health, safety, and welfare of its staff, students, faculty, and stakeholders. We aim to meet our legal duties under:

- The Safety, Health and Welfare at Work Act 2005
- The General Application Regulations 2007
- Relevant Health and Safety Authority (HSA) codes of practice

To meet this commitment, Pulse 8 will:

- Use safe and suitable training venues and ensure welfare facilities are available
- Provide a safe home working setup for staff through guidance and self-assessments
- Offer information, training, and supervision to promote safe practices
- Identify and manage risks through regular risk assessments
- Ensure emergency procedures are in place at training venues
- Provide access to first aid and a clear process for reporting and managing incidents
- Promote good housekeeping, equipment safety, and responsible conduct
- Review health and safety practices regularly and make improvements where needed
- Ensure that everyone at Pulse 8 is made aware that they have a role in keeping our working and training environments safe.
